

Ingrid de Graaf to leave Delta Lloyd

The Supervisory Board of Delta Lloyd announces that Ingrid de Graaf has decided to leave the company and pursue her career elsewhere. She will leave in the spring of 2017, after finalizing and transferring her duties. Ingrid de Graaf has served Delta Lloyd since 1999 and has been a member of the Executive Board since 2014. Previously she held a variety of director roles within Delta Lloyd, including as managing director of the Commercial Division and managing director at ABN AMRO Insurance.

Chairman of the Supervisory Board Rob Ruijter: "The Supervisory Board is grateful to Ingrid de Graaf for her contribution to Delta Lloyd. She played an important role in the operational and commercial success of Delta Lloyd. We wish her all the best for the future."

Ingrid de Graaf: "After working more than 17 years in various positions within Delta Lloyd, I personally made the decision to leave. Delta Lloyd is a great company with great colleagues, but I am ready for a new challenge."

Further notice about the succession of Ingrid de Graaf as a member of the Executive Board of Delta Lloyd will follow in due course.
